

HELP US CHANGE GOVERNMENT.

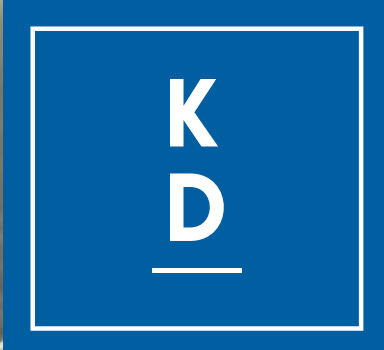

Do you agree that we need a Sweden that is characterised by good values? That all people should have the right to decide on their own lives, but with that freedom also comes responsibility? Then you share the same basic values that we do.

It is the duty of politicians to create favourable conditions for people to live good lives. We must strengthen the ~~the~~ police force, improve healthcare, and have a school system where no-one is held back and no-one is left behind. This is why we desire a new government. An Alliance government!

YOU SHOULD BE ABLE TO TRUST SWEDEN

VALUES YOU CAN TRUST

KD is an ideological party. We are a freedom and market-friendly based party that emphasises responsibility for our fellow human beings. We aim for reasonable taxation and want to prevent the wastage of taxpayers' money, and we draw a line between what is and isn't the duty of politics. We tore down the 'opinion corridor', our grassroots movement nullified the December Agreement, we have attempted to dissolve the leftist government throughout the mandate period, we were a driving force behind the exposure of #transportgate which deposed two Ministers. We have been a stable part of all centre-right governments since we entered the Riksdag in 1991. You know where you stand with us. As part of the package, you get a party that has the courage to place soft values first. Safety, healthcare, and welfare.

PRECONCEPTIONS

You don't need to be religious to be a Christian Democrat. Believing in our party platform is good enough. The image of us as more pious than the Moderates, Social Democrats and Liberals, or as a party of idlers, is just a myth. However, we have never tried to hide the fact that our policies are based on a stable foundation that stands firm over time, with Judaeo-Christian values as the cornerstone.

THE COMMUNITY BUILDERS

Unlike liberals and socialists, we Christian Democrats do not harbour any utopian notions of what society may become. There is no single answer to aim for. Instead, we act based on good values. There are no perfect people and there are no perfect societies. In our pursuit of a good society, we do not ignore the individual and collective, but focus more on the interrelationships that exist in between: a life partner, family, colleagues, friends, neighbours, churches, companies, associations and charities. We are community builders.

OUR MOST IMPORTANT POLICIES

Remove county council responsibility for hospitals

The distribution of healthcare across 21 different county councils is inefficient and unequal. We can shorten healthcare waiting times and give everyone qualitative care if the state assumes the primary responsibility for healthcare.

Build more homes for the elderly

Current government policy will result in housing shortages for 20,000 elderly by 2030. This means that we will not be able to offer everyone good elderly care. The way to prevent this shortfall is to build more residences.

Strengthen the elderly's personal finance

Abolish pension tax and lower the tax for elderly who want to work.
Increase housing grants and rent cap levels.

'No' to parental leave quotas

Families know best what solution is appropriate for them. That's why we say 'No' to parental leave quotas and 'Yes' to unreserved parental leave. We also want to lower taxes for families with children.

Employ an additional 10,000 police officers

We want to resolve the police crisis of the last few years with better working conditions, higher salaries and increased police recruitment. Sweden needs an additional 10,000 police officers.

Stop the wastage

Money that could be used for welfare is being wasted on costly and misguided subsidies and municipal white elephant building projects. We intend to stop this.

“What is the Swedish welfare state worth if we cannot trust that we will receive care when we need it? If we don't look after the elderly and sick? If we don't stand up for what is right, then society will fall short.”
